Review Proposed Revisions to the First and Last Day of School for the 2023-2024 School Year Calendars

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The School Board is responsible for setting the beginning and ending dates for the School Year Calendar. Traditionally the district has incorporated five additional days into the school calendar to use if the district has to call off school due to safety condition. Instructional days for the 2022-2023 school year has been significantly affected by a total of 14 school closure days throughout the year, leaving nine (9) instructional days that will not be able to be made up.

With the goal to ensure that students receive 180 instructional days, the 2023-2024 school calendar has been revised to include starting school three days earlier, adding three “flex” days in March and May and adding two more make-up snow days to the end of the school year, increasing from five (5) days to seven (7) days.
